Training Programme on “OSH management at Construction
Sites” (04th to 06th November, 2024)

ABOUT THE COURSE

Workplace can be hazardous places to work, with numerous potential hazards and risks present. Majority of accidents / injuries are attributable to non-compliance of safety procedures during planning / execution of Construction works.

Participants will learn OSH management at construction sites including elements of OSH Management System, applicable safety standards / guidelines and applicable statutory compliances for ensuring a secure work environment. It is essential that all safety professionals help develop and sustain workplace cultures that are driven by safety culture — not only regulatory consequences.

This program intends to benefit the safety officers / safety professionals / supervisors working at construction sites / inside factory premises in managing risks within ALARP levels.

OBJECTIVE

This program intends to benefit safety officers / safety professionals / supervisors working at construction sites / inside factory premises in efficient management of safety and health at construction sites through the knowledge and application of various statutory safety provisions, safety standards and procedures related to construction works.
