Training programme on “Convergence of Occupational Health & Safety, Productivity and Quality at workplace”
(20th - 22nd Nov, 2024)

About the Course:

Industrial Workplaces are complex set up which are aimed to achieve purposeful objectives of the organization. Industries have to work on many parameters related to productivity, quality, safety etc. in order to secure their objectives and goals. As industries are changing rapidly, the associated challenges are also diverse. Where, at one hand, the industries are struggling for increased and steady growth with optimal productivity and adequate quality, on the other hand, maintaining optimum level of safety and health of the workers at workplaces poses another challenge. Hence, a balancing act has to be worked upon which is in the best interest of the workers, management and organization as a whole. Hence, In the light of the above, CLI, Mumbai has designed a programme to converge all three elements namely Occupational Safety & Health, Productivity and Quality which are vital for sustainable growth and safe work environment for any organization. This programme will certainly help the participants to develop the understanding and importance of convergence and further implementation within the organizations.
