It also advises factories on various problems concerning safety, health, efficiency and well-being of the persons at work places. The Regional Labour Institute, Chennai, one of the Sub-ordinate Offices of DGFASLI, has been rendering technical assistance and services in the field of Occupational Health, Safety and Environment in the Southern Region. RLI Chennai also organizes training programs, conduct courses on OSH.

Background

Respirators are widely used as the last line of control in the hierarchy of hazard control system in industries. Industrial workers in their day-to-day work are exposed to occupational Airborne contaminants viz., gaseous form (gases and vapours) or as aerosols. Airborne contaminants are of particular concern because their exposures are associated with classical non-curable occupational diseases. Respirator selection and their use at workplaces require specific guideline based on the identified hazard. The objective of this program is to aware participants regarding selection use and care of respiratory PPEs at industrial workplaces.

Programme Highlights

- An Overview: use of respirators in industries.
