About DGFASLI

DGFASLI is an attached office of the Ministry of Labour & Employment, Government of India and serves as a technical arm to assist the Ministry in formulating national policies on occupational safety and health (OSH) in factories and docks. It also advises factories on various problems concerning safety, health, efficiency and well - being of the persons at workplaces.

Background

Education and training are important tools for educating safety professionals about inherent workplace hazards, layers of protection and control system. It helps to educate others to perform the work more safely thereby enhancing productivity. Another role of education and training is to provide safety professionals a greater understanding of the latest safety and health programme, so that they can contribute to its development and implementation in the areas of Knowledge and skills in safety and health, awareness and understanding of safety and health, communication of commitment in safety and health and delivery of output related to safety and health.

Therefore this three days training programme has been designed to impart knowledge to the intended participants on their work involving unique hazards. Workers assigned specific roles in the programme (eg:- incident investigation team members) may need training to ensure their full participation in those functions.

Programme Highlights

- National Policy on Safety Health and Environment at Workplace
- Relevant Overview of Education & Training in Industries
- Modern Safety Management Systems
- Communication of commitment towards OSH
